EXPLORING ARCHITECTURE IN MANHATTAN
MONDAY, JULY 6 - THURSDAY, JULY 30, 2015

Are you a high school junior or senior? A professional considering a career change? Would you like to earn three college credits while learning about architecture and design?

New York Institute of Technology’s School of Architecture and Design offers accredited professional degrees in architecture and interior design. The Exploring Architecture Program is an intensive introduction to architecture and design that may also be applied toward an NYIT degree. Our four-week summer program takes place in studios overlooking Central Park and Columbus Circle, at our Manhattan Campus, in the heart of one of the world’s most famous urban environments.

DESIGN STUDIO | WORKSHOPS | OFFICE VISITS

Morning lectures, reading seminars, walking tours, office visits, and exhibition visits introduce students to design practice, theory, and history. Afternoon studio sessions challenge students with an intensive introduction to the fundamentals of design, while also building skills in architectural drawing, modeling and presentation. Portfolio-making and career workshops prepare students for future opportunities. No prerequisites are necessary for this hands-on experience in architecture and design. International students are welcome. To learn more about the program and how to apply, please visit EXPLORING ARCHITECTURE PROGRAM at nyit.edu/architecture/programs.
