We have been retained by a not-for-profit women's health organization, located in Suffolk County, NY, to locate a well-experienced OB/GYN Physician Assistant to serve as full-time Senior Physician Assistant. Reporting to senior management, the Senior Clinician will be responsible for providing leadership, support and direct care, as well as clinical supervision to all medical staff, including clinicians, nurses and medical assistants. This is a very hands on position--candidate should have some supervisory experience. This position reports Director of Medical Services and Quality.

Responsibilities include:

- Ensuring that the practice remains customer-focused and in compliance with approved protocols, standards and DOH regulatory requirements
- Participating in orientation and training of all medical staff in conjunction with administrative staff
- Developing and implementing customer-focused service goals and objectives
- Participating in monitoring patient schedules to achieve practice goals
- Providing direct patient care including history review, health education, physical exam, counseling, diagnosis and treatment
- Overseeing follow-up and management of abnormal labs and referrals within and outside the practice
- Managing of emergent patient problems
- Ensuring staff compliance with all laboratory, OSHA, DOH, HIPAA and other mandates, as required
- Participating in scheduling staff for adequate coverage
- Performing chart and medical service audits
- Overseeing the practice's inventory and record keeping of medications, supplies and equipment
- Preparing for all inspections and reviews pertaining to patient services
- Supervising all laboratory, OSHA and infection-control procedures
- Participating in the Quality Assurance/Risk Management program

Qualifications required:

- Registered Physician Assistant in the State of New York
- Minimum three years of relevant OB/GYN clinical experience as a PA
- Prior supervisory experience
- Ability to work effectively with diverse staff and patients.
- He/she must be computer literate and able to learn new programs, and have excellent communication skills.
- He/she must demonstrate flexibility (may have to work evenings and/or weekends), and the ability to work independently as well as part of a team.
